A Card of Thanks.

We truly and sincerely thank the many friends who helped and assisted our brother, Walter G. Moore, during his late illness, and for the sympathy, love, and kindness shown us and his family at his death and burial.

Our sorrow and grief in our great loss will always be mingled with feelings of gratitude for the many loving acts of friendship and affection shown us in our sorrow and bereavement.

May He who rules the Universe reward them for the services so gladly performed and so highly appreciated by us.

"The Blue Moon" Song

Tens of thousands have laughed at James T. Powers, the comedian. His latest success is the musical extravaganza, "The Blue Moon," the song hit of the piece is "I'll Marry you to Make a Home for Mother," sung by Clara Palmer and written by Herbert Ingraham. The sheet music of the song, as published by Shapiro, New York, has enjoyed a large sale. The words and music complete of "I'll Marry You to Make a Home for Mother" will be given with next Sunday's New York World.

Hon. S. H. Melton Dead.

His friends all over Florida, particularly those warm ones he made while he represented Duval county in the legislature, are pained to learn of his death. The following we take from the Jacksonville Metropolis, 24th:

Stephen H. Melton, one of the best-known and most popular citizens of Florida, and for thirty-eight years a resident of Jacksonville, is dead.

The end came peacefully this morning at 3:30 o'clock, after an illness of several months, and while his demise has been expected by his family and immediate friends for several weeks, the shock is not less intense.

"Steve" Melton, or "Uncle Steve," as he was familiarly known here and elsewhere, occupied a unique place in the hearts of the people of Jacksonville. He was one of the biggest-hearted men that ever lived, and during his career in this city the unfortunates, the afflicted, and the charitable institutions always found a ready and willing benefactor. His charity and benevolence knew no class, or color, and he was seemingly happiest when he was contributing to the alleviation of human sufferings.

The Starke Telegraph (Speaker Mathew's newspaper) says: Hon. Wm. A. MacWilliams, of St. Johns county, and Hon. A. S. Wells, of Leon, have announced themselves candidates for reelection to the house of representatives. Both were members at the last session and both were notably strong figures in the shaping of legislation. Hon. John L. Neeley, of Tallahassee, for a number of years secretary of the railroad commission, is also a candidate for the house in Leon.

Handshakes of Greed

What a difference there is in the handshakes of different candidates! The green hand at the work sometimes gives you a jerk and is off to do the next man. Or he may be so embarrassed that he squeezes the little hand till the owner almost cries in pain. Sometimes the new candidate just touches the tips of the fingers. Not so the old veteran. His handshake is cordial—not too hard nor too soft, not too fast or too slow. There is a difference even in the shake of the two who are both past masters in the art. Old men tell us that men forgot their troubles after having the peerless Wm. D. Bloxham give one of his cordial grasps of that hand that pressed so many palms of the loyal and untainted. His campaigns were remembered not only for that eloquence that was so peculiarly his own, but by his cordial handshakes. And who could forget that younger man, Colonel Bob Davis? His handshake was just as cordial as that of the gifted son of Old Leon. Still, it was different. Pat Murphy, Senator Tallaferrero's friend, described the difference, according to his interpretation. He once said: "When Governor Bloxham shakes your hand, he makes you feel that he wants you to be his friend. When Bob Davis gets me hand he impresses me with the solemn truth that he is my friend." Pat was wrong to draw such a conclusion from two of the most unselfish sons of Florida. Still, it illustrates the fact that there is a difference in the shake.—Arcadia News.

Editor John High, of the Jasper Banner of Liberty, speaks thus plainly:

"If our political affairs are not going to the devil in a full gallop then I would be glad for some one to show me why they are not, and just as long as money runs our politics the devil has got charge. Good men are kept from running for office because they have not the money to go into politics. Men seek office not for what that office really pays, for they often spend three times what the office would justly pay them to get in. Have you ever seen a politician yet that would spend three times what an office paid just to show the people what an honestly administered office would be worth to the people? If you have come across such an individual, please point him out to me as I would like to shake hands with such a man."
